St. John's, Antigua Port Information

In 1684 Sir Christopher Codrington came to Antigua to find out if the island would support a large-scale sugar cultivation. Over the next fifty years sugar cultivation on Antigua was very successful. The island developed more than 150 cane-processing windmills, today almost 100 of these stone towers remain. They serve as houses, bars, restaurants and shops. At Betty's hope, visitors can see a fully-restored sugar mill.

Antigua is approximately 14 miles long and 11 miles wide, encompassing 108 square miles. Its highest point is Boggy Peak (1,319 ft.), located in the southwestern corner of the island. Barbuda, a flat coral island with an area of only 68 square miles, lies approximately 39 miles due north. The nation also includes the tiny (0.6 square mile) uninhabited island of Redonda, now a nature preserve.

The earliest European contact was made by Christopher Columbus, who sighted the island and named it after Santa Maria la Antigua. in 1684, a British businessman, Sir Christopher Codrington, came to the island to introduce a sugar crop; over the next 5 years, the island developed more than 150 cane-processing windmills. In 1784, Admiral Horatio Nelson arrived and established Antigua as Great Britain's most important Caribbean base. In 1834, slavery was abolished on the islands.

SAFETY ASHORE INFORMATION

While you will find many great experiences ashore, please remain vigilant about your personal safety and the safety of your belongings. As in any large urban tourist destination, you'll want to take some basic precautions to make the most of your time ashore.

- Be aware of your surroundings at all times. Avoid short cuts, narrow alleys and poorly lit streets.
- Avoid wandering from the main shopping and tourist areas into unfamiliar territory. If venturing out independently, have a plan, use only licensed taxi operators.
- Identity/Credit Card theft can occur anywhere. Please remain vigilant in monitoring the safe keeping of your personal information.
- Leave valuables in your room safe and avoid carrying large amounts of cash. Exercise caution when using ATMs. Cameras and handbags should be carried close to your body or concealed out of sight.
- Leave air transportation tickets and other travel documents in your room safe. When going ashore, each adult is required to carry a Driver's license, passport or other government-issued photo ID. – Note: Some ports may require guests to carry passports ashore.
- Most crimes are easier to commit in dark unlit areas. When going ashore at night, please be extra vigilant about your personal safety.
