WELCOME TO ENSENADA!

Ensenada was discovered in 1542 by Spanish navigators. Sixty years later, General Sebastián Vizcaíno, arrived at the bay and named it "Ensenada de Todos los Santos". Reports of habitants did not get noted until 1769, when a priest was traveling through the area to San Francisco. The first settlement was established in 1804, but it wasn't until the 1870s that settlement grew with the discovery of gold inland at Real del Castillo. In the 1940s, Ensenada developed into one of Mexico's leading Pacific ports for agriculture exports to support the agricultural expansion in the nearby Mexicali Valley. Today, it is a blend of industrial development, tourism, fishing and is well known for its wineries. Ensenada is the third-largest city in the Mexican state of Baja California. It is located on Todos Santos (All Saints) Bay of the Pacific Ocean and is surrounded by mountainous terrain. It is approximately 70 miles south of Tijuana.
