

Can you come over to our world and play?

Life's a game, so what the heck? It's summer and time to play. So we've dedicated this issue to all the new fun and classic magic that you can enjoy.

Rocking and rolling your way at New Fantasyland™ later this spring is the we-cannot-wait-to-ride-it spectacular attraction, Seven Dwarfs Mine Train. After you read the latest details in this issue, it's off to Magic Kingdom® Park you'll want to go! What an exciting and breathtaking new landmark!

By the time you read this, you may have already beheld the colorful new Disney Festival of Fantasy Parade, one of the most eye-filling extravaganzas to ever grace Main Street, U.S.A.® Wait until you see the ginormous Maleficent dragon.

But beware! You never know what dastardly villain will be lurking this summer with special events galore, many created especially for you, our wonderful Passholder friends.

We're also trying something new with this issue that the whole family can enjoy together. (After all, isn't that why Walt Disney dreamed up Disneyland® Park in the first place?)

It's an exclusive board game that takes you through the magic of this issue, easy to play and lots of fun for all.

We hope your summer brings you nothing less than a bucket of sunshine and a barrel of rainbows!

Sincerely,

The Artists and Writers of Mickey Monitor

A Gem of a Thrill!

Seven Dwarfs Mine Train offers a first-of-its-kind roller coaster experience of incredible delights.

Seven Dwarfs Mine Train opens as the crowning jewel of New Fantasyland™ at Magic Kingdom® Park, soon to give you an exciting glimpse into a glorious mine where a million diamonds shine.

But diamonds aren't the only things that sparkle on this rockin', rollicking roller coaster. There are other surprises in and around the mine to look forward to. So many that Dave Minichiello, Walt Disney Imagineering Creative Director, can't even begin to narrow down the best.

"It's the overall experience," Dave said of the new family roller coaster. "Seeing this amazing story in this new way. Between that and the new ride vehicle...it will surprise and delight.

"The attraction uses a first-of-its-kind ride system that swings left and right as it speeds along the track. The unique movement builds even more excitement with each twist and turn, especially as it travels outside the mine." Inside, the mine cars keep a steady pace to music from the Oscar®-winning Disney classic Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, which the American Film Institute named the best American animated film of all time.

Your Seven Dwarfs Mine Train adventure begins with three areas to explore before you enter your mine car.

First, you'll help sort jewels by shape and color. The next spot is a jewel-washing area with magical water spigots, followed by the vault where the Dwarfs store their gems.

"The ceiling is covered in jewels," said Dave. "The farther into the mine you go, the more jewels you see."

Then, you'll enter the vault containing a barrel for each of the Seven Dwarfs. If you spin one, Dwarf animation appears. And according to Dave, if you spin all seven at once, there's an extra surprise!

As the interactive areas immerse you in the story, the roller coaster ride itself offers more thrills, taking you through the rolling hills of the countryside toward what appears to be an abandoned mine shaft.

"But somewhere in the mine are the Dwarfs, working," Dave said.

One of the first to be seen is Dopey, who is in a mine car surrounded by a sea of jewels. Sneezy carries a stack of buckets filled with gems when he suddenly feels a sneeze coming on. Happy and Bashful are hard at work while Sleepy dozes on the job, to the chagrin of Grumpy.

Doc is on the platform, measuring the sparkling gems when the clock chimes quitting time. As the roller coaster speeds toward him, Doc bellows his famous "Heigh-Ho!" with the other Dwarfs chiming in, dropping all their tools to head home.

As they march off, the roller coaster prepares to take its last drop, offering one of the most gorgeous aerial views of Magic Kingdom® Park, Dave said. It's one of several amazing vantage points from a ride that's sure to make your smile shine, too.

"M" SECRET

It's no surprise to find trains all around Walt Disney World® Resort. Walt Disney loved trains so much, he built a scale model railway in his own backyard.

"M" SECRET

Minnie Mouse's dress and hat, seen in the parade finale, use 95 gold lamé dots that are cut out, all blinged out and sewn on.

Artistry on Parade

The new Disney Festival of Fantasy Parade is here!

Walt Disney believed in a world where imagination comes to life in festive, innovative ways. So when Cast Members set out to create a brand-new Magic Kingdom® daytime parade, they made sure “magic” was written all over it.

The result is the Disney Festival of Fantasy Parade, which just started creating its enchantment on Main Street, U.S.A.® It’s a celebration of imagination that tells beloved Disney stories in a stunning, larger-than-life spectacle.

“We thought that it would be really great if the Characters exploded out of Fantasyland® and said, ‘Come to our new land and come help us celebrate!’” said Steven Davison, Creative Director and Vice President of Parades and Spectaculars, Walt Disney Parks and Resorts, Creative Entertainment.

The parade includes an array of vibrant costumes, dozens of enchanting Characters and nine beautifully grand floats, from a pirate ship complete with smoking cannons to a retro-Victorian futuristic, mechanical Maleficent dragon that seems more creature than float.

One of the most eye-catching sights is the Peter Pan float, which features a colorful glimpse of Never Land and a fresh take on the Lost Boys, inspired by the Broadway hit Newsies. “The playful costumes of the parade work as an extension of the floats,” said Randy Wojcik, Senior Show Director, also of Walt Disney Entertainment.

“They really just make this gorgeous, dramatic statement out on the parade route,” Randy said of the costumes as a whole. “What I like about them is the relevancy of each costume, yet they still tie in to the Disney brand. In perspective, just the scale and magnitude of the costumes are state-of-the-art designs we’ve never seen in a Disney Park.”

 - a. COLOR CARD: Move your Character to the FIRST matching color space on the game board.
 - b. MICKEY CARD: Move to the SECOND space AHEAD that matches the card color.
 - c. GOOFY CARD: Move to the FIRST space BEHIND that matches the card color.

After all...

...this is the 50th anniversary of "it's a small world"®

The sun never sets on "it's a small world" attractions at Walt Disney World® Resort, Disneyland® Resort, Tokyo Disneyland® and Disneyland® Paris. What makes this classic attraction so special?

it's the art

"it's a small world" is a work of several Disney Legends including Marc and Alice Davis, Claude Coats and Rolly Crump, but the overall style is that of Mary Blair, whom Walt Disney personally hired in 1940. Her whimsical vision graces such classic films as Alice in Wonderland and Peter Pan—and even the towering mosaic at Disney's Contemporary Resort.

it's the music

Disney Legends Richard M. Sherman and Robert B. Sherman were asked by Walt to write the perfect song. Richard Sherman told Disney Historian Stacia Martin that the answer "came all of a sudden when we said...all these people grow up to be people and start having big differences and defiances and wars...but in the small world of children, everybody loves each other."

In his recent autobiography, Moose: Chapters from My Life, Robert Sherman points out that "It's the most translated, most performed song in the world." Robert's book reveals a third verse, written at the request of Disney Legend Tony Baxter for the attraction's 45th anniversary: "It's a world of wonder / A world of worth / And in years to come / We'll know peace on Earth / We will open our eyes / And we'll all realize / It's a small world after all."

it's the anniversary

Celebrate "it's a small world" by visiting smallworld50.com, where you can build your own doll, record your version of the song and see video treasures. There's even an animated "it's a small world" series online to enjoy at disney.com/smallworld.

Symphony in the Stars lights up the skies of Star Wars Weekends

Get ready for spectacular pyrotechnics synchronized to beloved, pulse-pounding Star Wars™ music that caps off each thrilling day of Star Wars Weekends. Symphony in the Stars, the brand-new fireworks show, debuts this year!

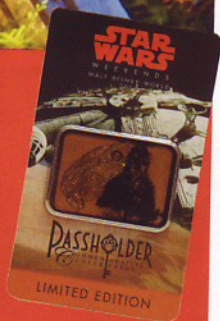

And you don't even need to summon the Force or hop aboard a Starspeeder 1000 to immerse yourself in the world of Star Wars—just grab your Pass and head over to Disney's Hollywood Studios® every Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May 16–June 15, 2014.

Star Wars Weekends is known throughout the galaxy for its celebrity appearances, exciting motorcade, photo ops, family-friendly entertainment, favorite Characters from the films and more. Symphony in the Stars gives you one more reason not to miss this not-to-be-missed event.

"People should feel the music and emotions of the fireworks," Walt Disney Entertainment Special Effects Designer Morgan Hendrickson explained.

A definite highlight of Star Wars Weekends, Symphony in the Stars will feature pyrotechnics designed specifically for this show fired off from several different locations—in other words fireworks effects never before seen at Walt Disney World® Resort.

"I'm telling the story with music and it's been a very collaborative experience," said Senior Music Producer Rick Mizell. "For me and Morgan to be successful, we have to create the ebb and flow of the product."

"I've always been a big Star Wars™ fan and we tried to capture that feeling with Symphony in the Stars," Morgan said.

A Car Master Rolls In to Car Masters Weekend

In the automotive world, designer Chip Foose is as big a name as it gets. From his distinctive car creations and his popular TV series Overhaulin' to designing Ramone's look (including his distinctive flames) for Disney•Pixar's Cars films, he has definitely made his mark.

And we are pleased that Chip will once again join us for Car Masters Weekend at the Downtown Disney® Area. He will be on hand for photo ops, autographs, custom artwork signing, a children's how-to-draw session and to just chat.

"I love the stories people tell," Chip told us. "It's not always the cars, it's the people with the cars who are so interesting to me."

And no, you don't have to be a gearhead to enjoy this annual event. Just come out and admire everything from hot rods to muscle cars and one-off customs, plus appearances by Lightning McQueen and other Cars Characters. In fact, Chip's history with Disney began when he was chosen as custom painting consultant for Disney•Pixar's Cars.

Chip says he enjoys bringing his family so they can share the Walt Disney World experience. "It's become our first family vacation of the year."

So if you're looking to crank up the "ooh and aah" quotient on your weekend, head on over to Downtown Disney Area. The event is free and runs June 14–15, 2014.
