BAR HARBOR OVERVIEW

In the mid-1800s, Bar Harbor became the playground of U.S. tycoons, who visited each summer to "rusticate," as they called it, in the wilds. There was a limit, however, to how rustic they were willing to get, as evidenced by the palatial Newport-like "cottages" they built. The Great Fire of 1947, which leveled most of the mansions, wiped out this lavish lifestyle. Bar Harbor was rebuilt as a more middle-class resort with hotels and motels largely replacing the summer palaces. Some of those same inns are chock full these days during the brief Maine summer, when the village's permanent population of 4,000 swells tenfold with present-day rusticators.

A few "cottages" and other prosperous homes can best be seen from the sea. Other attractive cottages can be seen along the West Street District where the style of shingle construction is typical of this beautiful region.

John D. Rockefeller promoted the preservation of the island, as well as the establishment of the National Park in 1919. The Park Loop Road provides access to some of the most memorable features, including the Otter Cliffs and the striking Thunder Hole. Bar Harbor presents a unique example of ocean and mountain scenery. It's a quiet, beautiful resort village, worlds away from the hustle and bustle of the big cities.

Surrounded by Acadia National Park on the east side of Maine's Mt. Desert Island, Bar Harbor has welcomed visitors for more than a hundred years. While summer remains Bar Harbor's high season, today, many people visit the town to witness the blazing colors of fall foliage, which reach a colorful crescendo in early October.

Visitors with a thirst for adventure and love of the outdoors will find plenty to do in Bar Harbor. Sailing, canoeing, and kayaking are popular pursuits, while climbing Acadia's jagged peaks and cliffs offers an opportunity to see the island from a different perspective. Adventurers can also work up a sweat while enjoying the scenery as they bike along any of the 55 miles of trails that run through the park.

Other options include scenic trolley rides; a visit to the local brewery, Bar Harbor Brewing company; or the Mount Desert Oceanarium and its lobster museum. Golfers can enjoy a few holes at the country's eighth-oldest club, Kebo Valley Golf Club. Shoppers can snag something unique in the many charming boutiques that line West, Cottage, Mt. Desert, and Main Streets. building now houses artifacts depicting Sydney's history

Travel Safety Tips

As in any tourist destination, you will want to take some basic precautions to make the most of your time ashore.

- Be aware of your surroundings, especially in crowded areas.
- Avoid wandering from the main shopping and tourist areas into unfamiliar territory. If venturing out independently, have a plan, use only licensed taxi operators.
- Leave your valuables in your stateroom safe and avoid carrying large amounts of cash. Exercise caution when using ATMs.
- Cameras and handbags should be carried close to your body or concealed out of sight. People who carry handbags or backpacks are particularly vulnerable to purse snatchers on scooters.
- When going ashore, each adult is required to carry a Driver's license, passport or other government-issued photo ID. – Note: Some ports may require Guests to carry passports ashore.
- In general, use the same level of precaution you would use in any tourist destination.

Please remember that while in a foreign country, you are subject to its laws.
