PORT OVERVIEW

Ensenada is a coastal city in Mexico, the third largest and 78 miles south of San Diego on the Baja California Peninsula. The area is locally referred to as La Cenicienta del Pacifico, "The Cinderella of the Pacific." One of the first settlements founded in the Californias, Ensenada has emerged as a cruise ship destination, aerospace center and with a nearby region to the northeast where wine grapes are grown. It is said that the first Vitis vinifera made it to the region's San Ignacio Mission in 1703, when Jesuit Padre Juan de Ugarte planted the first vineyards. Situated on the coastline of Bahia de Todos Santos — an inlet of the Pacific Ocean on the peninsula's Gold Coast — the Port of Ensenada is an important commercial, fishing, and tourism destination. The city is home to a navy and army base as well as Ensenada Airport, a military airfield which doubles as an airport of entry into Mexico.

RESTRICTIONS ON U.S. CURRENCY TRANSACTIONS IN MEXICO

In September of 2010, the Mexican government enacted a law limiting the amount of U.S. dollars a Mexican business or individual may deposit into their bank account. Because of this limitation, some of the recommended stores in port may restrict the amount of U.S. dollars they will accept in settlement of your purchases. Please remember to take your credit card into port so that you may be able to take advantage of all the bargains these stores have to offer.
